DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 31-38 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 29, 31 and 33-38 of U.S. Patent No. 6,096,068. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the instant application are merely broader.

Specification

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it is directed to an apparatus and all claims are now directed to a method of using the apparatus.

Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 31-33 and 35-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ginsburg (5,837,003). Ginsburg discloses a method for providing whole-body cooling of a patient, the method comprising; providing a catheter with a conductive heat transfer element at a distal end thereof;

inserting the catheter and heat transfer element into the vascular system of the patient;

utilizing the heat transfer element to modify the temperature of blood which flows in heat exchange proximity to the heat transfer element, such that said modification of the blood will accomplish whole body cooling of the patient; wherein the heat transfer element includes at least one fluid lumen through which a working fluid may be circulated; and wherein the step of utilizing includes circulating a working fluid through the at least one fluid lumen to lower the temperature of the heat transfer element thereby modifying the temperature of blood in the vascular system of the patient (Figures 5 and 6 and col. 7, lines 1-45).

Art Unit: 3739

As to claim 35, Ginsburg further discloses the heat transfer element is metallic (Figure 5, where tube 40 is metallic).

As to claim 36, Ginsburg further discloses the heat transfer element comprises a plurality of heat transfer segments (vanes 50 and col. 7, lines 1-12).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 34 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ginsburg. Although Ginsburg fails to specifically disclose the catheter is inserted into the inferior vena cava, the examiner maintains that it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to so place the catheter to cool the whole body.
